KENTUCKY'S QUOTA .- The quota of our State under the late call for troops is 12,701, and unless the volunteers are forthcoming by the 5th of January, the draft will surely visit us. Every inducement is offered to volunteers, and if the proper measures are taken the quota of the State may yet be filled. The enormous bounties of $302 are offered to new recruits, and $402 to those who have served at least nine months. A premium of $15 is given for each new recruit, and $25 for each veteran. Of the bounties $75 will be paid to the recruit on his arrival at camp and before he goes to the field. If, however, the person is drafted, he gets nothing except his ordina-Ty pay. There are scores of young unmaried men in our State, who could, without Inconvenience or sacrifice of other duties, enlist in the army, and they should step forward to save their State from the mortification of a draft. We would suggest that some movement be set on foot to encourage and promote volunteering. If necessary, let the rich contribute a fund for an extra bounty. Other States have adopted this plan with great success. It is the duty of every one, as it is also his interest, to assist in enlisting recruits sufficient for the demands of service. Let every one lend himself to he patriotic purpose. It needs but a united offort to guarantee success. In another col-

Monopolies .- It is a truism that demand always regulates supply and prices in commercial affairs. It not unfrequently occurs that in articles of prime necessity speculators, taking advantage of peculiar circumstances, sucpeed in placing prices far above the intrinsic value of their merchandise. When a dealer asks a price beyond a fair legitimate profit, thereby taking from the poor and those depending upon a moderate salary or income an andue share of their means necessary for the support of those dependent upon them, they are doing what it is the duty of public sentiment to frown upon. In nothing are the poor, and indeed all classes, more immediately interested in just at this time than fuel. We see that combinations in various places have been entered into greatly afing the price of coal. Where it has not been done by operatives or the owners of mines, the lines of transportation have been guilty of taking advantage of present necessities and raising the cost of carriage. New York and Philadelphia papers complain of this state of things. They professed to have but a limited supply, but the stock holds out wonderfully-like the razor man, "a few more left." The public will consider these things, and we trust govern themselves accordingly, when the supply becomes greater than the de-

ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLING FROM THE ADAMS EXPRESS COMPANY .- About three years since the safe of the Adams Express Company, at Vincennes, Indiana, was broken open and $3,200 in money was abstracted therefrom. Suspicion fell upon the agent at that post, Mr. James Reynolds, who was arrested, but, for want of sufficient evidence to convict him, he was discharged. Reynolds was afterward elected Sheriff of the county, served one term, and was re-elected for a second term. Since the robbery took place the company have been active in ferreting out the offender, and a few days ago Mr. Reynolds, being in the city on business, was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Adams, upon an order of arrest, in a civil action for debt by embezzling the $3,200 as above stated. Not being able to give the $6,000 bail required, Mr. Reynolds was lodged in the county jail to await the action of the

The War Department has decided to pay the wives or families of officers or soldiers now confined as prisoners of war the amount of pay that may be due. We could scarcely credit the despatch noticing the asolidation of the 20th and 21st corps, when t came to us in the papers. We had heard nothing at all about such an arrangement, and seeing Crittenden in his accustomed place, we secuted the idea as preposterous. From the time we first entered Tennessee, Gen. Critten-den, then a division commander, has been onnected with our wing of the army, and ever have we heard officer or soldier say ight against him. And calmly now, I do have had anything to say against him.

Too proud to court favor, he has not excited jealousy. Too much like his father to be rash and impetuous, he has escaped condem-nation, and, until the disaster of the late bat tle, has moved quietly and smoothly toward greatness, without becoming notorious. Why he should be now assailed, we cannot guess. We saw his conduct during the late battle and found no fault. Who is the accuser? We founded, and most outrageously indignant at the manner in which he is attacked. This is no sentimental bombast, nor sensational clap trap for effect. Try to part child from parent without assigning a reason, and see the success you will meet with. If you would part us from Crittenden, give us reasons for so doing before asking us to submit to the decree. fore we knew that he was a son of the Crit enden, the common soldier learned to love in and why? The General, who joined the eling of a man to the dignity of the soldier, astead of hiding beneath it, whose character was free from petty vice, and who proved timself on fields where others failed, could himself on heids where others failed, could but have the confidence and affection of the soldier. But to-day he has said farewell, and we are proud of him in his sorrow.

As the men from one regiment were dismissed, they flocked to another to hear him speak there, the commanders joining him on horse-back, and soon "Crittenden's good-by" became one of the most striking pageants of the Crittenden in any position would be a noted ersonage, but here he was most strikingly so.

Adding to a fine form and dignified bearing, the excellence of impressive gesture, accom-panying the fine modulate of a rich voice, he spoke at once the erator and the soldier. I heard several of his addresses, and here shall roduce one of them, giving as near as pos-e his exact language, that the people may hear, as well as ourselves, the farewells of the commander of the 21st army corps. To one regiment he remarked: "I came among you to-day merely to say good-by; to say to you that I am no longer your commander. Your Government has seen fit to relieve me, and I ust say, gentlemen, the Government is right There has been suspicion cast upon me, and no one, with the slightest stain upon his character, should be allowed to hold so important a position as the one I had the honor to hold as your corps commander.

"Toward the Government I have no ill-feeling, but toward traducers and slanderers, perhaps I have. As the Commander of the 21st Corps, I have been highly honored in 21st Corps, I have been highly honored in times past. This honor was to me a source of sons whom we are solemnly bound to rescue, tained strength sufficient to enable him to ause it came to me through you, and it was

When he spoke to the 9th Indiana he presented a stand of colors, the gift of General Nelson. This ing many a tear from its hiding place. In addition, his remarks were eloquent in the extreme. "You have conquered on many battle-fields, and a proud name is yours. Spotless should be the character of the man who aspires to be your commander. The breath of foul suspicion makes mine no longer so; I announce to you that I am no longer your commander. With this came many regrets, but I will crush my sorrow. I go to clear myself from these base insinuations, and, when my character is unspotted, I may, perpaps, be again among you. infantry (formerly the 3d) may know cour whereabouts and health, I take the liverty of ddressing them through the Daily Journal. On the 2d of October we left this point for pelousas, a distance of upwards of one hun-red miles, at which place we arrived a few ays since, meeting with but little resistance. Ve found the rebel forces nearly all mounted As we had worn out two sets of horses for Colonel Wolford and one for Colonel Mundy while in Kentucky, Tennessee, and Virginia, we found we had no chance of coming up wit hem, since the rebel cavalry seemed to be mounted on wild horses; at least they got out of our way with but little trouble.

All that we of the old 7th ask, is half a chance with these flying rebels, which we have never had. We think that we have arched over more territory and been in more iment in the service, and we feel that we have been neglected more than any regiment in the service by the authorities of our native State. We now number about 280 fit for du y. We entered the service of the United states at Camp Dick Robinson, in Kentucky, n the 22d day of September, 1861, number-

THE CANADA THISTLE. - In certain portions of the State of New York and New England many farms lose half their value on accoun of this pest, and we hear that it is beginning to show itself in some of the counties of this State. The seeds are carried a vast distance by the wind like the common thistle, and measures should be taken to eradicate it at once whenever it appears. A small bed of Canada thistles will furnish seeds for miles around. Some time ago we saw some beds in Mason and Fleming counties, and said then that county meetings ought to be called to devise means to get rid of the vile weed. A writer in the Prairie Farmer gives the following mode of destroying it, which he says never

When the thistle is in full and mature bloom and just before a shower of rain, or during the same, mow them down as near the ground as practicable. At this stage of its growth the stalk is hollow, extending to the smallest roots, and being filled with water as soon as cut, rotting commences at once inside the root, it variably destroying it. Should any of t stalks be not fully grown so as to be hollowhen cut, the roots of such may spring up the tyear, when the same process being received. peat year, when the same process being re-peated the thistle will entirely disappear from that locality. I have often destroyed them in this way in a single year, where they had grown for several years upon grass ground. In cultivated ground, however, it is more difficult to eradicate them by this mode, as the disturbance of the roots brings forward the stalks at different periods of maturity and, in fact, it is the better way when the this the gets into cultivated ground to seed down at once, if only to destroy them.

THE EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS.—The followng letter, addressed by the Solicitor of the War Department to a gentleman in Boston, discloses officially the causes of a cessation in the exchange of prisoners. It appears that the greatest difficulty in the way is the refusal f the Confederates to exchange the negro oldiers and their officers. the entire correspondence will be made pub

There are several serious difficulties in the way of continuing an exchange of prisoners. One is the bad faith of the enemy in putting into active service many thousands of paroled prisoners, captured at Vicksburg and elsewhere, without releasing any of our soldiers held by them. But another difficulty of still grover integrations is the conservation of the service of the servic raver importance is the peremptory refusal y the enemy to exchange colored soldiers and eir white officers upon any terms whatever is well known that they have threatened t

The faith of the government is pledged to these officers and troops that they shall be protected, and it cannot and will not abandon to the savage cruelty of slave masters a single officer or soldier who has been called on to defend the flag of his country and thus exposed to the hazards of war. It has been suggested that exchanges might go on until all except colored troops and their white officers have been given up. But if this were allowed the rebels would not only be relieved of the burden of maintaining our troops, but they would get back their own

PRISING CASE OF DOMESTIC INFIDELITY.

Chicago is decidedly a fast city, an assertion which needs no better proof than the fact that the conservators of its morals often set an example which the mest unprincipled would fear to follow, in view of the consequences. Observes innumerable have from time to time been preferred against the police. A buses of authority are not uncommon. Now and then, too, a waif of complaint comes surging up from the sea of human trouble against the leaders of the police force—the Sergeants and Captains. It is not, however, ofter that so aggravated a case comes to light as the present revealment, one in which, scandal says, a double crime has been committed. An ordinarily heinous sin is in this case heightened by the fact that the culprit holds high office among those whose business it is to watch over the morals and preserve the peace of the community. Chicago is decidedly a fast city, an assertion

The official, who is accused of the flagrant offence to be mentioned hereafter, has occupied several different positions before the public. He has now turned up in a new role. He has been found in a situation very inconsistent with his office, having enacted the part of a semi-landlord. In other words, he rented a part of his house to another man, and then occupied it himself in common with his terms. occupied it himself in common with his ten ant's wife! The tenant is also a married man, and nearly ever since the junction of the two families a certain tenderness of feeling has been observed to exist between his wife and the landlord. They have often been out riding together, and the tenant's wife has been made the recipient of numberless other little attentions too tedious to detail, but agreeable enough to give and receive. The tenant himself being tied behind the counter was naturally ignorant of what passed between them, and, being of an unsuspicious nature, was well pleased to see such good humor prevailing. His jealousy was perhaps less likely to be excited from the fact that the wife of his landlord was much the better looking woman of the two; a man of ordinary good taste would not be guilty of striving to change from the better to the worse. But there is no account-ing for partialities. The landlord and his tenant's wife became desperately enamored of each other. The children on both sides, they say, used to notice it and often exchanged observations on the subject of love as they un-derstood it, their ideas happily being limited derstood it, their ideas happiny being limited to the kiss, of which it is said they were often witnesses. They could not, however, long remain thus, A demestic in the family of the tenant became dissatisfied with the turn of events, and, exactly two weeks ago to-day, increased him of an unlawful intimercy, which formed him of an unlawful intimacy which she suspected to exist between the parties, With true German imperturbability he waited till Saturday night, when he knew that his landlord would be at home, and just be-fore supper time informed his wife that he was about to go out into the country to buy produce, and would not return for two or three days. He left for the depot, but, accidentally missing the train purposely, he settled down in a lager-beer saloon till near midnight, when he wended his way homeward. He entered softly and gained his bedroom before any one was aware of his presence. It is enough to say that he found them together, and his cup of misery, as well as his bed, was full

The strangest part of the affair is yet to come. The unsophisticated reader might expect that the next step in the tragedy would andlord through the window, or the explo-ion of a pistol. Nothing of the kind. "Mein Jott!" is said to have been ejaculated once or the affair was amicably arranged, and a few hundreds of dollars paid as an indemnity to the injured husband. This is doubtlessly a mistake. But one thing is certain. The husband is not only silent, but happy, under his temporary bereavement, and the tenants—masculine and feminin—are once more as ontented in each others' society as a pair o oung turtle doves.

Two or three of them were fined three dollars each, with costs, for having been intoxicated, the instrument in each case being common whiskey.

At last, however, one came, who, it was ascertained, had imbibed rather too freely of rum punch. "Ah!" said he, "I sail fine you notsings at all, because I gets drunk mineshelf on rum punch sometimes."

ANOTHER VOLUMB OF NAPOLEON'S CORRE-ANOTHER VOLUME OF NAPOLEON'S CORRESPONDENCE.—A work is in process of publication in Paris styled "The Napoleon Correspondence," and the thirteenth volume of it has just appeared. This volume opens with the 20th of July, 1806, and closes with the 30th of November of the same year, comprising four months and six days—a short period—but during that time the great Emperor gave the world some specimens of the amiability of his character. The following are worth noticing. On the 5th of August he writes to Talleyrand: "All the libels that town that if they do not instantly arrest the booksellers and burn these libels, before quit-ting Germany, I shall punish the town of Nuremberg in an exemplary manner."

thus to Marshal Berthier: "I suppose y caused the booksellers of Augsburg and Nuremberg to be arrested. My intention is that mission, and shot within four and twenty hours. It is no ordinary crime to spread li-bels in places where French armies are, to excite the populations against them. a crime of high treason. In the ser it must be announced that, wherever there is an army, the duty of the chief is watch over its safety—that those persons convicted of having attempted to raise the inhabitants of Suabia against the French are condemned to death. In this sense the sentence must be drawn up. n judgment on them. State in the sentence that the libels were sent by the booksellers Kupfer, of Vienna, and Enrich, of Liuz, who are condemned to death by default, and that eized, wherever there are French troops. Cir-Plate the sentence throughout German."

Here is another specimen. Napoleon writes o Murat, King of Naples: "You will have a ine kingdom. It will be for you not to go to deep on the throne, but to organize vigorousy your finances, so as to have a good navy and a good army. You must not lose sight of the fact that force and severe justice are nch the goodness of private persons with quantity of property you have confiscated and the number of the revolted you have dealt with. Shoot three persons in each village, chief of the rebels. Do not treat priests more tenderly than the others." What an example for the tyrannical Federal Government! Supose they had followed it, and "shot three per-ons in each village, chiefs of rebels," where would the rebellion have been?

MONDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1863.

Congress meets to-day. The contest for the Speakership promises to be one of lively interest. We think there is no doubt that he arrival of the Louisiana delegation at SABLE, Washington increases the chances of a conservative triumph, but whether or not the increase is great enough to secure the triumph remains to be seen. We pray that it is. Colfax no doubt will be the radical candidate. There appears to be a fair probability that Mr. Mallory will be the conservative candidate. If he shall be, the conservatives will undoubtedly have the very strongest candidate at their command. The concentration of the conservative strength of the House on Mr. Mallory would be indeed a highly auspicious and cheering event without regard to the issue of the immediate contest. We earnestly trust the concentration will take place. But all speculation on the subject is now idle, seeing that in the course of a few hours the telegraph will announce the rival candidates if not the issue of the struggle. We await the announcement with anxious hope.

The General Assembly of Kentucky convenes at Frankfort to-day. We apprehend no delay and no embarrassment in the proper organization of the body. Without doubt the Legislature will be to-morrow in working order. We trust it will begin and end its work in a spirit of patriotic unity as broad and lofty as that which for the most part annimated the preceding Assembly. And we have every reason to believe that it will. It certainly will if its members shall faithfully redeem their solemn engagements to the people. Let the members of the present Legislature but pursue in good faith the path clearly marked out by the platform whereon they were elected, and the peace and honor of the Commonwealth will be secure. The path of wisdom and of statesmanship lies plain before them. It is illuminated by their own pledges. They have only to be upright in order to be wise and statesmanlike. Assuredly we do not harbor a doubt of their complete fidelity to the people and to themselves. We shall be able doubtless to lay the Governor's Message before our readers in the evening edition of to-morrow's Journal. We publish on the third page of this morning's Journal the minutes of the proceedings of the meeting of the Conservative Union National Committee held in the city of Cincinnati last week.

It will be seen from these minutes, that while the meeting of consultation thought fit to suggest to the national committee a particular man as a candidate for the Presidency, the national committee itself took no action in relation to this suggestion, but adjourned to meet in Philadelphia on the 23d instant, for the purpose of considering the suggestion, and of taking such action concerning the general matter entrusted to the committee as may then be deemed advisable. The committee has imposed no trammels upon its future action. When it next meets it will be entirely free to act as it may deem advisable in view f the existing state of the country and of parties. Our opinion as to what the action of the committee should be we shall venture to set forth very frankly hereafter. In the mean time, we may say, that, although the members of the committee at the present time differ somewhat as to the best means of bringing about a thorough union of the conservative elements of the country, they all agree perfectly and most heartily as to the end. So far as concerns a rcoted and unconquerable hostility to abolitionism and secessionism, the committee is not only a unit, but the solidest unit of its size with which we have ever been brought into contact. We do not question that when the committee meets next it will be as perfectly harmonious in respect to the means as it now is in respect to the end. It is proper to add that the gentlemen who in the minutes are mentioned as being present at the meeting of consultation were not all present when the resolution of Mr. Bruner was adopted, and that some who were present de- 231 Main st., bet. We make this explanation inasmuch as the minutes particularize the fact that the resolution was adopted without a dissenting

The Mobile Register takes a view of the war which we commend to the careful consideration of rebel sympathizers in the Border States. The cotton States declared among their grievances that they wanted more slaves and at cheaper rates, and the Register seems to think that great desideratum has been accomplished, and therefore it is not nearly so zealous for the prosecution of the war as it would have been under other cir-war as it would have been under other cir-materials. The planters of that region it tum has been accomplished, and therefore it is cumstances. The planters of that region, it alleges, have long waited for such a condition dead of the conditi of things, and in the outset they prepared themselves for it by selling their cotton for specie and hoarding it to purchase negroes, when they depreciated in price. Over one million have been carried from the borders to the Gulf States for security, or when accompanying their refugee owners in advance of the movements of the Federal armies, and many of them have been sold at ruinous sacrifices, because there was no employment for them. Thus the injury which the rebellion has worked to the slave property of the Border States is made a subject of congratulation by the Mobile Register, and another evidence is given of the selfish character of the whole conspiracy.

George Sanders, according to the Boston Traveller, has been trying to run a tilt with Mr. Harcourt, who, under the nom de plume of "HISTORICUS," has contributed a series of masterly letters to the London Times, discussing the various points of public law raised by the rebellion in this country. We admire the pluck of George, but not his discretion. The Englishman, it is said, uses George up pretty much after the style in which Ivanhoe used up Ralph de Vipont, in the lists at Ashby, that valiant Norman being pushed to the ground with such force that the blood gushed from his mouth and nose, and he was borne senseless away. So is it with George Sanders, who is no Norman, or Northman, but a chivalrous Southron, but of whom his antagonist is said not to have left enough to be laughed at or mourned over.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Saturday contains a long and wild account of the meeting of the Conservative Union National Committee, which the Commercial, with premonitory romance, styles at the outset a "National Convention." The Commercial's account is imaginary from beginning to end, but it is supremely imaginary in relation to Governor Campbell, of Tennessee. The allusion to Governor Campbell is indeed a monstrous perversion, uncountenanced by a shadow of reality. We say thus much in simple justice to that manly and disinterested

Mr. Bradbury's New Music Book.

"THE KEY-NOTE." A NEW COLLECTION OF
Thurch and Singing Music, by W. B. Bradbury, is ready at last, and the publishers believe will well repay the many Singing Schools and Choirs which have been waiting for it. Some indication of Mr. Bradbury's popularity as an author is afforded in the fact that the whole of the first edition of ten thousand copies of this new book were ordered in advance of publication. Other editions will follow immediately. One hundred press are devoted to the Elements of Music, with a great amount of new Singing School Music, and nearly three hundred pages to Sacred Music, as tunes of all metres, Anthems, Chants, and other set pieces, mostly new. The work is printed throughout from large, plain type, one part on a staff. Price, per dozen, $10. A single copy to any teacher, for examination, by mail. post-paid, for $1. And see the NEW WORLD

ITEMS.—Fuel has become so scarce of late that our citizens are compelled to guard it like money from the thieves in our midst. Coal is selling in Jeffersonville at forty-eight cents. The Forty-ninth Indiana regiment, Colonel James Keigwin, is now in Texas, under Gen. Banks.

There is quite a revival in religion of the various denominations at New Albany. Fourteen negro slaves, men and women, ran away from Owensboro one night last

A large number of rebel prisoners crossed to Jeffersonville yesterday, en route to the different camps in the North. They looked wretched.

Up to Wednesday last, not over eight thousand hogs had been slaughtered in New Al-Thirty-five men have been enlisted in the various recruiting offices in Floyd county, Indiana. One hundred are yet to be raised. The Kentucky tobacco crop will foot up about 100,000 hhds. The supply of coal received by the late rise has not tended in the slightest degree to alleviate the sufferings of those who are in want of fuel.

Conscripts and recruits are pouring in daily, city. Gen. Cox is expected there early next and are forwarded to the front. One thou- week. sand recruits leave Illinois the present week to fill up old regiments in the field.

It is a fact that a great part of the Tenth ward might be saved from the frequent overflows by the river, to which it is subject, by a and the town is filled with refugees who have levee of four or five feet on Fulton street, from the cut off to Cabel street, and on Cabel street from Fulton to the high ground on the south side of the old bed of the creek. This done, and a fill on Adams street, where it crosses the old bed of the creek, and that part of the city would rapidly improve and fill up with buildings, and the taxes on the enhanced value of the property would very soon pay the city for the improvement. The property in the district redeemed, should also be made to bear a good part of the cost of the improve-

By special permission from the War Department, and by special request of Gov. cite, Capt. J. M. Hewitt, of the 2d Keny battery, has been ordered to Louisville for the purpose of recruiting men to fill the vacancies of "their brothers gone before." The battery has been "foremost in the ranks" since 1861, and recruits will share in the already proud name won by their predecessors. His office is at the corner of Fifth and Jefferson streets. All who wish to share in the istorical renown of Hewitt's battery had best make early application.

A gentleman of Portland informs us that a poor widow lady with five small children has been rendered homeless by the fire which occurred in that place on Saturday. They are in destitute circumstances, having taken up quarters in an old stable, where they are without food, fire, or clothing, except what they have on their backs. We appeal to our generous-hearted citizens to immediately take steps to relieve this unfortunate family and provide them with a home and the necessaries of life.

Geo. W. Montague, Esq., of Taylor county, an old and experienced clerk, is a candidate for Assistant Clerk of the Senate. He is industrious, capable, and accommodating. Indeed he is one of the very best clerks in the State. He has ever been a staunch and reliable Union man, and we cordially recommend him as a gentleman in every way qualified to fill the duties of the office in question. Let his claims on Union men receive all due consideration. If industry, capability, and merit deserve success, he will achieve it.

THE QUOTAS OF TOWNS .- A circular issued by Gen. Fry to the Provost Marshal directs that the State authorities adjust the quotas of the towns on the basis of the quotas assigned to the district by the Provost Marshal's Department, and that, in all cases, a volunteer shall be credited to the town or district where he enlists, if his muster-in papers give the town or district as the place of his residence. In all cases, where no place of residence is given, the volunteer shall be credited to the Congressional District at large.

At Union City, Paducah, Fort Pillow, and Columbus, the conscription has already been put in force, and the guards are rapidly bringing in the unwilling recruits. Of course, great excitement prevails at all these points. great excitement prevails at all these points.

The subject is excitedly discussed, pro and con, but this does not interfere with the execution of the order. At Columbus, over eighty have already passed through the hands of the examining physician, Surgeon Onley, of the Thirty-second Iowa, and were placed in quarters, ready to be assigned to duty.

DEMAND NOTES -In handling "greenbacks," it would be well to look out for demand notes, as those who were in the habit of "salting them down," have found it necessary to give them circulation. It is stated that a leading business house in Lafayette, Ind., has taken over $500 of them, as ordinary legal tender, in the course of trade, within a few months. The demand notes are worth the same rate of premium as gold.

LOUISVILLE THEATRE, -This evening Mdlle Vestvali appears in the romantic and musical drama "The Duke's Motto." The engagement of this talented lady thus far has been a complete ovation. She is entirely original in every gesture, utterance, and expression. She is one of the brightest luminaries of the American stage, and will attain the highest round in the ladder of fame.

Wood's THEATRE.-The young tragedian Edwin Adams makes his debut in this city this evening in Hamlet. The press throughout the country extols him very highly, and, if he proves anything near what he is represented, we may look forward to a brilliant week in theatricals. He is said to be the "coming man" in his line.

The distress of the poor in our city is increasing daily. Hundreds of families are without food, fire, or clothing sufficient to cover their persons. We would urge the necessity of immediate action on the part of our citizens to alleviate the sufferings of the unfortunates in the midst of us.

We learn that several of the Fortieth

General Orders, No. 6.
FOR THE INFORMATION AND GUIDANCE OF ALL CONCERNED. For The Information and guidance of all concerns.

The President of the United States, having issued a call for 300,000 volunteers, the quota assigned to Kentucky amounts to 12,701. This number should be raised by volunteering, for which time is given until the fifth day of January next. Should the enlistments not amount to the required number by that day, a draft will be enforced to make up the deficit.

The accompanying list shows the exact number each county will be required to furnish. Many of these sub-districts have already exceeded their proportions, and consequently no assignment is now made them. The enlistments will be entirely for those regiments now in the field, and for the space of three years or during the war. A premium of $15$ for each new recruit, or $25$ for each "veteran," will be paid the party producing him as soon as the recruit reaches the place of general rendezvous. Bounties of $302 to new recruits, and of $402 to those who have served at least nine months, will be paid in convenient instalments, the first of which, amounting, with advance say, to $75, will be given the recruit on his arrival at he camp of general rendezvous at Louisville, and before his departure to the field. An earlier expiration of the war will still leave the recruit entitled to his all bounty.
